About This Game

The official adaptation of Potion Explosion, the award-winning puzzle board game.

Play this game solo or against players from all over the world with Solo, Online and Local Pass & Play modes!

In Potion Explosion, you will explode ingredients, trigger chain reactions and gather it all in your cauldron. You will then use your hard-earned unicorn tears, fairy dandruff and whatnot to craft powerful mixtures with wacky effects! May the best wizard win!

HOW TO PLAY

At the beginning of the game, each player is given potions to complete with specific effects and ingredients. You will have to select ingredients in the dispenser; once your selected ingredient is removed, the ingredients above will slide down. If two ingredients of the same nature collide, they explode and you get them too! You can then use your ingredients to cook up your potions. You only have a limited tank space to store remaining ingredients from one turn to another, so choose carefully! Once a potion is completed, you score points, get to use its powerful effect and pick another potion to craft. The wizard with the most points wins!

Excellent digital version of the boardgame!

If you were a fan of the boardgame, which in itself felt like a classic videogame puzzler ala Tetris Attack/Yoshi's Cookie, this game is a great digital version of it.

The tutorial is very clear and it is easy to jump in.

I haven't tried out online multiplayer yet, but so far I recommend this.

Special shoutout for releasing a Linux version too, no issues whatsoever.. I really enjoy this game, however, I've been unable to play the expansion on either of my two computers. I'm trying to get in contact with the company to get it sorted out. It's a great adaptation of the board game.. Local play is fun and rewarding.. Excellent, like the boardgame!. A very decent adaptation of the board game. Fun and quick to learn. the only problem I really have with the game is that it seems that there is never anybody online to play it with.. Very fun game. Easy to understand and well worth the money. No bugs were found. The boardgame is fun to play, this is still the case with this pc-adaptation.

There are lots of problems though...

- The gameview looks like a simple drawing
- no overview of all the bottles (you have to click on an opponent to see anything)

That said, I'm still happy to be able to play the boardgame on my pc when my friends are not able to join me for the tabletopversion... However, I bought this thing on sale. If I would have to pay full price, I would have instantly refunded it because of the really ugly look (looks like a very cheap free flash game) and the lack of overview (very important in a boardgame).. Great Board Game Adaption!

Love the board game so far and decided to get this game. I love it as a digital version and I also got it on Android. The mechanics are easy to learn. But don't think of it as an easy game. If you are a long thinker, then you can create powerful actions and defeat you opponents.

I also recommend to get the expansion. Like the board game it makes the basic game much more fun.. Attempted to play a local game twice. Game keeps randomly crashing, and won't save game progress so unable to continue. Will refund if keeps crashing, currently unplayable.

Potion Explosion was in my life since the day TotalBiscuit mentioned it on The Co-Optional Podcast. Of course, back then, he only talked about the board game and the mobile game.

I bought the Android version straight away and I spent countless hours of playing on both mobile and tablet. And now, the game made its sneaky way to Steam and I can't be happier, as I genuinely adore this game and everything about it.

Addictive gameplay of potion making, filled with scheming and planning, is certainly the main draw for me. But, visuals and music, as well as the dash of silliness, are the main contributors for creating a wonderfully charming ambience that keeps me hooked for hours.

I will absolutely recommend this game for anyone to try, especially, if you have people around to play with ... not to diminish the enjoyment of solo or online play as I had a great deal of fun with both.

Grade: A
